Musical Synopsis

Act One

Janis Sarkisian and Damian Hubbard introduce the audience to Cady Heron, breaking the fourth wall and inviting them on their journey. Cady and her parents have moved to a Chicago suburb from Kenya, Africa but Cady soon realizes that her high school classmates do not readily accept others who differ from them. Janis and Damian decide to help her find her social group; describing the clique of high school social royalty dubbed “the Plastics” in particular. The trio consists of Regina George, the “Queen Bee”; Gretchen Wieners, and Karen Smith. Regina and her fellow Plastics decide that the new girl will eat lunch with them for the rest of the week. Damian and Janis tell her to do it and tell them everything that is said.

In AP Calculus, Cady meets Aaron Samuels, Regina’s ex, and immediately falls for him. Kevin, head of the Mathletes, is impressed with Cady’s performance in class and asks her to join them, but Gretchen warns Cady that joining the Mathletes is social suicide and Regina makes him leave. Cady thinks Regina is nice for “protecting” her, but Janis warns her that Regina is dangerous. Amazed by her newfound power, Cady does not pay attention to Janis’s words. At the mall, Gretchen asks Cady if she has met any boys she likes. When Cady tells her about Aaron, Gretchen becomes horrified because he is off-limits to Regina’s friends. The Plastics and Cady retire to Regina’s house, where they meet her “cool mom” and Gretchen and Karen show Cady their old Burn Book, where they put photos of their classmates and write mean comments about them. When they come across Janis’ photo in the book, Gretchen explains that she and Regina used to be best friends. Regina claims Janis freaked out when she was unable to invite her to her thirteenth birthday party and ended up in art therapy. Later, Gretchen confides in Cady that she has no confidence because of Regina.

The next day, Aaron discusses his bad relationship with Regina and that he has sworn off dating. Cady believes that if she acts stupid, Aaron will help her with her work, and therefore talk to her more. After using this tactic, Aaron invites Cady to his Halloween party. Karen explains that in high school, Halloween revolves around looking sexy and having a hot costume. Cady fails to realize this and shows up at the party in a “scary” costume, embarrassing herself. Later at the party, Gretchen tells Regina about Cady’s crush on Aaron to get her approval. Spitefully, Regina decides to flirt with and manipulate Aaron until he agrees to get back together with her. Cady sees Aaron kissing Regina and is devastated.

Furious, Cady shows up at Damian’s house and tells him and Janis what happened. Damian tells Cady that the real reason Regina and Janis stopped being friends was that Regina accused Janis of being a lesbian. When the latter was unable to deny it, her classmates bullied her until she left school. The three friends decide to work together to get revenge on Regina, starting with giving her Kälteen Bars to make her gain weight and causing chaos amongst the Plastics. After the Plastics’ disastrous “Rockin’ Around the Pole” dance at the school talent show, people start noticing Regina’s weight gain. Later, when she breaks one of the Plastics’ arbitrary clothing rules, Cady stands up to her, banning her from sitting at their table. Everyone is relieved to be freed from Regina's rule, but Regina insinuates that her reign is not over.

Act Two

Following the winter break, Cady has undergone a complete makeover befitting of her new "Queen Bee" status leading Karen and Gretchen, though Damian and Janis disapprove of this. After Cady tells Janis that she cannot attend her art show because of a trip with her parents, Damian and the other girls of North Shore High School try to hamper Cady's ever-growing social obsessions and make her stop acting dumb for Aaron. Gretchen and Karen convince Cady to lie to her parents and throw a "small" party while they are gone that weekend. Gretchen starts to notice similarities between her friendship with Regina and Cady while Mrs. George wonders why her daughter refuses to confide in her. Concurrently, Gretchen contemplates being friends with Cady.

Following Gretchen and Karen's advice, Cady throws a party in an attempt to get Aaron to come over. However, she becomes intoxicated and crazier. Cady tells Aaron the "funny" story about how she pretended that she was dumb to make him like her. Aaron becomes upset and says he liked the smart and kind Cady, not her new Plastic self. He leaves and she chases after him but runs into Janis and Damian outside. They tell Cady that she betrayed their trust, lied to them, and has gone full Plastic. Cady accuses Janis of being in love with her, just as Regina did years ago. Janis and Damian are disgusted by Cady's behavior.

When Regina discovers that she was not invited to Cady's party and that the Käl-teen Bars were the cause of her weight gain, she decides to get revenge by releasing the Burn Book after adding "Regina is a Fugly Cow" to it in order to take the blame off of herself. She throws copies of the Burn Book pages all over the school, revealing the insults about everyone they know, except Karen, Gretchen, and Cady. All of the junior class girls begin fighting over the insults. Janis and Damian see an insult in the book that only Cady could have written. At a required assembly about the Burn Book, Ms. Norbury tries to bring the girls together. Janis explains her philosophy to the school, referencing her failed friendships with both Cady and Regina; empowering the girls to stand up for themselves. When Regina storms out in anger and disbelief, Cady tries to apologize, but the former Plastic gets distracted and hit by a passing school bus.

The accident prompts Cady to reevaluate herself and realize what a monster she has become. After learning Ms. Norbury was about to be fired due to the things she wrote, Cady takes full blame for the Burn Book, despite not having written the entire thing herself. She is suspended for three weeks and banned from the Spring Fling. When Cady returns to school, Ms. Norbury offers her a way to earn extra credit and save her grade: joining the Mathletes at the state championships. After a team win and congratulations from Aaron, Cady sneaks into the Spring Fling where she reconciles with Regina.

Cady is elected Spring Fling Queen. She breaks it into several pieces and gives them to each girl in attendance - telling them they are all "real, and rare." She apologizes to Janis and Damian, and they move forward as friends once more. Cady, Damian, Janis, Gretchen, Karen, Aaron, and Regina join together, finally accepting each other.

Delayne,

This is so surreal that this is your senior year musical production! You have been a part of the GLHS musicals since you were 5 years old. Watching you grow in your confidence and talent has been so rewarding and inspirational. You have always had a stage presence, but now it goes far beyond that. You have the ability to transform and make the audience feel and experience something magical. We are all so excited to see where your journey takes you! We will always be in your corner, cheering the loudest!

We love you and are so proud of you,
Mom, Jeff, Ashton, Jonah, Liv, Brittany, Papa,
Mema, and Bert

Jocelyn,

You started as an eager munchkin in Oz which set you off on a magical theatrical journey. It has been an absolute joy seeing the places you've been on stage, including a chocolate factory, college, high school, the Greek Isles, into the woods, under the sea and now right back to high school as a Mean Girl seeing stars. No matter where your journey takes you next, we know it will be so fetch!
